

on 27 toll plazas on the 12 state highways from August 15.

Analysts said as many as nine toll road projects, awarded through public-private partnerships, would be affected.

In eight projects, the FY16 revenue was estimated to be ₹501 crore. Assuming a growth of six per cent in toll collections every year, the revenues during the concession period for these projects was estimated to be ₹13,747 crore, said rating agency ICRA. Therefore, the total burden on the state government was estimated to be in the range of ₹3,024 crore to ₹3,436 crore.

Gujarat's deputy CM Nitin Patel had made an announcement in this regard on August 11. The decision

IL&FS Transportation Networks Limited, two by Welspun Enterprises and one each by Ranjit Buildcon Limited and MS Khurana Engineering Limited.

On two of the projects promoted by ITNL, toll is being levied on two-wheelers also. At the remaining seven projects, toll is being levied on cars and commercial vehicles.

The government has directed the concessionaires to set up exclusive lanes for cars, jeeps and vans and count the vehicles using automatic vehicle counters. Based on historical data, a formula would be derived to make necessary adjustments for exempted traffic, local users, traffic availing return journey and monthly passes.

Telangana issues draft notification for new districts

Basarath Reddy
Hyderabad, 22 August

The Telangana government on Monday issued a draft notification on new districts that would be created by dividing nine of the existing ten districts excluding Hyderabad.

The government has invited people to share their feedback on its proposals within a month after which the new districts will be notified with or without further modifications later in October this year.

Telangana government seeks to create 17 new districts for public and administrative convenience among other reasons.

Explaining the government's intent behind creation of smaller districts at an all party meeting on Saturday, chief minister K Chandrashekar Rao said while the average size of a district's population across 683 districts in India stood at 1.8 million while the same in Telangana it was 3.6 million.

As a part of this reorganisation exercise, the government also proposed 15 new revenue divisions taking the total number to 60 revenue divisions and 46 new mandals taking the total number of mandals to 505 in the state.

Two of the 17 new districts would carry the names of Kakatiya University professor late Jayasankar, who was revered as the ideologue of the Telangana statehood movement and Komaram Bheem, a Gond hero who led an early tribal revolt in the erstwhile Nizam state, while other new districts will carry the name a major town located in their jurisdiction. All the major opposition parties by and large backed the governments' proposal on new districts even though people from few pockets raised their opposition either asking for a district that was not under the government consideration or questioned the way an existing district was sought to be divided.
